Join Us For A Special CONVERSATION WITH MAX SCHREMS

Hosted and Moderated by Jonathan Armstrong of Cordery

Schrems v. Data Protection Commissioner (Case C-362/14) is a ground-breaking case brought by Max Schrems before the Court of Justice of the European Union ("CJEU"). In its final ruling on October 6, 2015 the CJEU invalidated the Safe Harbor arrangement, which governed data transfers between the EU and the US. This decision has thrown the cross-border sharing of personal information into doubt and marks a major change in international law. Mr. Schrems' campaign continues with a private action in Austria and a second CJEU referral over model terms – an unprecedented case which sees the US Government seeking to be joined into EU court proceedings. Join noted compliance and privacy specialist Jonathan Armstrong as he chats with Mr. Schrems, the lead plaintiff and noted privacy activist, in a conversation about his involvement in the case, his background and what the future holds for EU-US relations.
